@ NAVAL POSTGRADUATE SCHOOL

The Naval Postgraduate School is the nation's premiere national security research university, and although NPS produces highly-qualified M.S. and Ph.D. graduates in several disciplines, the university also reaches beyond the gates to provide opportunities for students interested in the science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) fields

NPS host dozens of high school, undergraduate and graduate level students from schools locally and across the country with a desire to learn from world-class researchers and graduate military students at NPS.

The internships provide hands-on experiential learning and valuable networking potential while encouraging budding scientists and engineers to pursue careers within the Department of Defense.

Please contact us if you are interested in any of NPS' STEM opportunities:
