“My studies at the Naval Postgraduate School have been of great benefit to me throughout my career and will continue to sustain me and enrich my life after I leave active duty. The NPS emphasis on life-long learning, the value of academic rigor, the opportunity for applying current scientific principles to Navy and Joint problems and the lifelong friendships made are things that I will always treasure from my NPS experience.”

Naval Postgraduate School is a leader in global cyber defense and security for the 21st century.
