CCMR conducted a seminar on Strategic Challenges & Opportunities for Honduras from 23-27 June 2014 in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. Over 40 representatives from the Military and Civilian government organizations attended the seminar. The delivery format combined informational presentations on academic and practical frameworks with a capabilities based practical exercise with several notional scenario vignettes designed to replicate several issues that Honduras is currently facing. The Honduran Seminar achieved an increased awareness of the strategic challenges and opportunities within Honduras while conveying the need for international cooperation. The seminar package can be tailored and exported in multiple theaters for decision makers to effectively consider, design and implement strategies, policies and practices within their governments.
