RESUME OF JAMES MORGAN FREMGEN

James M. Fremgen was born in Chicago, Illinois, in 1933. He received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Commerce, with a major in Accounting, from the University of Notre Dame in 1954. The following year he was awarded the Master of Business Administration degree by Indiana University.

In October 1955, he was commissioned in the U. S. Coast Guard Reserve and served three years on active duty.

In 1958 he returned to Indiana University as a doctoral candidate in the Graduate School of Business. The Doctor of Business Administration degree was conferred in 1961. His doctoral dissertation, "Involuntary Liquidation of Inventories Priced by LIFO," was prepared under the direction of Professor Robert E. Walden.

From 1961 through 1963 he was Assistant Professor of Accountancy at the University of Notre Dame. In 1964 he was promoted to Associate Professor. That same year he was licensed as a Certified Public Accountant in the State of Indiana.

In July 1965 he joined the faculty of the Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, California, and served as Chairman of the Department of Business Administration and Economics from 1965 to 1967. He is currently teaching in the Department of Administrative Sciences.

He took a leave of absence for the academic year 1967-68 to teach in the Department of Accounting and Finance in the College of Business Administration at the University of Hawaii.

He is a member of the American Accounting Association, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, Beta Alpha Psi, Beta Gamma Sigma, and the National Association of Accountants.
