RESUME OF GUILLERMO OWEN

Guillermo Owen was born in Bogota Colombia, on May 4, 1938. He obtained his Bachelor of Science degree in mathematics from Fordham University in 1958 and his Ph.D. degree, also in mathematics, from Princeton University in 1962.

He was Assistant Professor of mathematics at Fordham from 1961 to 1965, when he was promoted to Associate Professor, a position which he held until 1968. He spent a year as Visiting Professor of mathematics at the University of the Andes in Bogota, Colombia, and in 1969, accepted a position as Associate Professor of mathematical sciences at Rice University. He was promoted to Professor in 1974 and stayed at Rice until 1977, except for a year (1975-1976) as Visiting Professor of mathematics of decisions at the University of Paris IX. From 1977 to 1979, he divided his time between SER Institute of Research (a non-profit corporation) and the University of the Andes in Bogota. In 1980 he visited NPS, staying here until July of 1981. From August 1981 to June 1983 he divided his time among research positions at the University of California/Irvine, and the University of Iowa, and a teaching position at the University of the Andes in Bogota, Colombia. He has also held Visiting and Adjunct Professor positions at several universities in the United States, Europe, Latin America, and Asia.

In July of 1983 he joined the faculty of the Naval Postgraduate School where he is presently Professor of mathematics.

Professor Owen is Associate Editor of the International Journal of Game Theory and Management Science, and a member of the Manuscript Review Committee for Behavioral Science. From 1979 to 1983 he was an editorial columnist for the Latin American Times.
