RESUME OF JOHN EVERETT OHLSON

John E. Ohlson was born on 29 May 1940 in Seattle, Washington. He received the degree of Bachelor of Science in electrical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge in 1962, and the Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Stanford University in 1963 and 1967. His major was electrical engineering, and his doctoral dissertation was in the area of solar radar astronomy.

Prior to 1967 he was employed summers and part-time with the Boeing Company at Renton, Washington, the Stanford Research Institute at Menlo Park, California, and San Jose State College at San Jose, California.

From 1967 to 1971 he was an Assistant Professor in the Department of Electrical Engineering of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California. He has also been a consultant to the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, California, since 1968 in the areas of radio astronomy and deep-space communications.

In September 1971 he joined the faculty of the Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, California, where he is teaching in the Department of Electrical Engineering. His current research interests include detection and estimation theory, communications and radar systems, and radioscience instrumentation and experimentation.

He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, Inc.
