Historical Note

Public Affairs Office photo shoots from 1996 -1999 provided content for the NPS weekly broadsheet newspaper, Campus News, and the quarterly magazine, Alumni@NPS. The former was published from 1994-2001 and the latter was produced from 1997-2001. Photo shoots supported NPS leadership; and, were used to develop images for marketing posters and stock photos for press releases.

Four Public Affairs Office staff members had a significant role as photographers during this time - Javier Chagoya, Diane Jacobs, Davey Jones and Dale Kuska. This collection includes their work for publication and for other command assignments.

The Naval Postgraduate School (NPS) is a graduate institution located in Monterey, California, USA and operated by the U.S. Navy. NPS has had several names and a location change during its history. Its early years were in Annapolis, Maryland, first as the School of Marine Engineering (1909), then the Postgraduate Department of the Naval Academy (1912), and, finally, Naval Postgraduate School (1919). NPS moved from Annapolis to Monterey in two phases from 1948-1951 and formally dedicated its Monterey campus in February 1952. The NPS campus is the former site of the historic Hotel Del Monte, predecessor the Pebble Beach Company. Since its inception, NPS has provided graduate and executive programs for uniformed US and allied nation militaries and civilians. Its curricula has focused on the advanced applied sciences and engineering, operations research, defense analysis, international and political relations, civilian-military relations, and business and management. Faculty and student research has been dedicated to increasing combat readiness and peacetime cooperation.

Biographic Note

John Sanders, a civilian public affairs officer who created the Campus News newspaper and other PAO publications, compiled this collection. Dorothy Nath developed metadata and a preliminary inventory and John Sanders, as Special Collections Manager, created its first finding aid.
