RESUME OF DON EDWARD HARRISON, JR.

Don Harrison was born in Detroit, Michigan, in 1927. In 1949 he received the Bachelor of Science degree from the College of William and Mary, with a major in physics and minor in mathematics. He continued in physics at Yale University and was awarded his Doctor of Philosophy in 1953.

After graduation he was employed by the University of Louisville as Assistant Professor from 1953 - 57, and as Associate Professor at the University of Toledo from 1957 to 1961.

In June, 1961, he joined the faculty of the Naval Postgraduate School, where he is teaching in the Physics and Chemistry Department. He also teaches operations research, computer programming and computer simulations of tactical and C³I problems.

His research interests are surface physics, computer simulation of chemically reacted single crystal surfaces and surveillance systems.

He has served the Naval Postgraduate School as special assistant to the Provost and Dean of Research, and as Chairman of the faculty.

His professional affiliations are with the American Physical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, and Sigma Xi.
